Section 30

Domestic Trade and Services

This section presents statistics relating to the distributive trades and service industries. Data shown for the trades, classified by kind of business, and for the various categories of services (e.g., personal, business, repair, hotel) cover sales or receipts, establishments, employees, payrolls, and other items. Also included are data for franchised businesses.

The principal sources of these data are census reports and survey reports of the Bureau of the Census. Data on national income originating in trade and services appear in the monthly Survey of Current Business, issued by the Bureau of Economic Analysis. Financial data for firms engaged in retail, wholesale, or service activities appear in the annual Statistics of Income, published by the Internal Revenue Service.

Censuses.—Censuses of retail trade, wholesale trade, and the service industries have been taken at various intervals since 1929. Beginning with the 1967 Census, legislation provides for a census to be conducted every 5 years (for years ending in "2" and "7").

The establishments covered in the censuses and surveys of business are those classified in 3 divisions defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, 1972 (see text, page 402). Retail Trade refers to places of business primarily engaged in selling merchandise for personal or household consumption; Wholesale Trade, to establishments primarily engaged in selling goods to dealers and distributors for resale or to purchasers who buy for business and farm uses; and Services, to establishments primarily engaged in providing a wide range of services for individuals and for businesses.

Prior to 1977, the censuses excluded health services (except dental laboratories), educational services, social services, membership organizations, and others performing a professional or scientific service (except engineering, architectural, and surveying services). These were covered in the 1977 Census of Service Industries. In addition, in 1977, the distinction between taxable and tax exempt establishments was made for all service industries. Table 1450 provides data for 1977 for all tax-exempt establishments with payroll in the service industry covered in the Census, by kind of operation, as well as data on taxable establishments in industries covered for the first time in the 1977 Census. (See footnote 5, table 1448, for industries which for the first time in 1977, are divided between taxable and tax-exempt establishments.) For comparability, other tables presented are for only those service industries covered in the 1972 Census of Selected Services. Still excluded from the censuses are religious organizations, public utilities, and Government-operated enterprises except wholesale and retail liquor operations.

Data from the 1958 Census exclude retail and service nonemployer establishments which had annual receipts of less than $2,500 and $1,000, respectively. Beginning with the 1963 Census, nonemployer establishments which did not operate the entire year were included if, during the period they operated, their receipts were at a rate which would have reached the annual totals specified had they operated the entire year. Wholesale trade establishments with no paid employment are excluded. Beginning in 1977, nonemployer direct sellers are excluded in the Census of Retail Trade. Also beginning in 1977, these censuses excluded sales taxes and finance charges in their report of sales (or receipts) figures.

Current surveys.—Current sample surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census cover various aspects of the retail and wholesale trade and selected service industries. Its Monthly Retail Trade Report contains monthly estimates of sales, inventories, and sales of organizations operating 11 or more retail stores (see table 1428), for the United States, by kind of business. In addition, monthly retail sales data for census regions and divisions, 19 large States, 23 large standard metropolitan statistical areas, and 5 large cities are included. Annual figures on sales, year-end inventories, and sales/inventories ratios, by kind of business, appear in the Annual Retail Trade Report.

Statistics from the Bureau's monthly wholesale trade survey include national estimates of merchant wholesalers' sales, inventories, and stock-sales ratios by major summary groups—durable and nondurable—and selected kinds of businesses. These data, based on reports submitted by a sample of firms, appear in the Monthly Wholesale Trade Report. Annual figures on sales, sales-inventory ratios, and year-end inventories appear in the Annual Wholesale Trade Report.

The Service Annual Survey provides annual estimates of receipts for selected service establishments for the United States as a whole.

For the current sample survey programs, retail trade coverage is the same as for the census; wholesale trade coverage is limited to merchant wholesalers; and selected services coverage is less inclusive than the census.

Estimates obtained from annual and monthly surveys are based on sample data and are not expected to agree exactly with results that would be obtained from a complete census of all establishments. Data include estimates for establishments not reporting.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970. See Appendix I.

Foreign Commerce and Aid

This section presents data on the flow of goods, services, and capital between the United States and other countries; changes in official reserve assets of the United States; international investments; foreign assistance programs; and import duties.

The Bureau of Economic Analysis publishes current figures on U.S. international transactions and the U.S. international investment position in its monthly Survey of Current Business. Figures for earlier periods are presented in Balance of Payments—Statistical Supplement, 1963 revised edition, in the periodic Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government, and in the June issues of the Survey of Current Business. Statistics for the foreign aid programs are presented by the Agency for International Development (AID) in its annual U.S. Overseas Loans and Grants and Assistance from International Organizations; and by the Department of Agriculture in its Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States.

The principal source of merchandise import and export data is the Bureau of the Census. Current data are presented monthly in Report FT 135, U.S. General Imports, Schedule A: Commodity by Country; Report FT 410, U.S. Exports, Schedule E: Commodity by Country; and Report FT 800, Highlights of U.S. Export and Import Trade. The Bureau of the Census Catalog and the Guide to Foreign Trade Statistics lists the Bureau's monthly and annual reports in this field. In addition, the International Trade Administration and the Bureau of Economic Analysis present summary as well as selected commodity and country data for U.S. foreign trade in the Overseas Business Reports and the Survey of Current Business, respectively. The merchandise trade data in the latter source include balance of payments adjustments to the Census data. The Treasury Department's Annual Report of the Secretary contains information on import duties.

International accounts.—The international transactions tables (Nos. 1451-1453) show, for given time periods, the transfer of goods, services, grants, and financial assets and liabilities between the United States and the rest of the world. The international investment position table (No. 1454) presents, for specific dates, the value of U.S. investments abroad and of foreign investments in the United States. The movement of foreign and U.S. capital as presented in the balance of payments is not the only factor affecting the total value of foreign investments. Among the other factors, are changes in the valuation of assets or liabilities, including securities, defaults, expropriations, and write-offs.

Direct investment abroad means ownership or control, direct or indirect, by one U.S. person or business enterprise of 10 percent or more of the voting securities of an incorporated foreign business enterprise or an equivalent interest in an unincorporated foreign business enterprise. Direct investment position is the yearend value of U.S. parents' claims on the equity of, and receivables due from, foreign affiliates less foreign affiliates' receivables due from the United States. Income consists of U.S. parents' shares in earnings (net of foreign income taxes) of their foreign affiliates plus net interest on intercompany accounts, less withholding taxes on dividends and interests.

Foreign aid.—Foreign assistance is divided into three major categories—grants (military supplies and services and other grants), credits, and other assistance (through net accumulation of foreign currency claims from the sale of agricultural commodities). Grants are transfers for which no payment is expected (other than a limited percentage of the foreign currency "counterpart" funds generated by the grant), or which at most involve an obligation on the part of the receiver to extend aid to the United States or other countries to achieve a common objective. Credits are loan disbursements or transfers under other agreements which give rise to specific obligations to repay, over a period of years, usually with interest. All known returns to the U.S. Government stemming from grants and credits (reverse grants, returns of grants, and payments of principal) are taken into account in net grants and net credits, but no allowance is made for interest or commissions. Other assistance represents the transfer of U.S. farm products in exchange for foreign currencies (plus, since enactment of Public Law 87-128, currency claims from principal and interest collected on credits extended under the farm products program), less the Government's disbursements of the currencies as grants, credits, or for purchases. The net acquisition of currencies represents net transfers of resources to foreign countries under the agricultural programs, in addition to those classified as grants or credits.

Figures as published in the Foreign Grants and Credits series are not identical with figures shown for Government unilateral transfers and capital in, the balance of payments, mainly because of differences in treatment of particular items by the two sets of accounts. Such items include contributions to the multilateral construction program of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, government investments in certain productive enterprises abroad, government receipts on funded claims, and net changes in foreign currency holdings resulting from transactions other than those under the farm products program, such as collections of principal and interest and purchases for dollars.

The basic instrument for extending military aid to friendly nations has been the Mutual Defense Assistance Program authorized by the Congress in 1949. Prior to 1952, economic and technical aid was authorized in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1948, the 1950 Act for International Development, and other legislation which set up programs for specific countries. In 1952, these economic, technical, and military aid programs were combined under the Mutual Security Act, which in turn was followed by the Foreign Assistance Act passed in 1961. Appropriations to provide military assistance were also made in the Department of Defense Appropriation Act (rather than the Foreign Assistance Appropriation Act) beginning in 1966 for certain countries in Southeast Asia and in other legislation concerning programs for specific countries (such as Israel). Figures on activity under the Foreign Assistance Act as reported in the Foreign Grants and Credits series differ from data published by AID or its immediate predecessors, due largely to differences in reporting, timing, and treatment of particular items.

Exports.—The Bureau of the Census compiles export data primarily from Shipper's Export Declarations required to be filed with customs officials for shipments leaving the United States. They include U.S. exports under mutual security programs and exclude shipments to U.S. Armed Forces for their own use.

The value reported in the export statistics is generally equivalent to a free alongside ship (f.a.s.) value at the U.S. port of export, based on the transaction price, including inland freight, insurance, and other charges incurred in placing the merchandise alongside the carrier at the U.S. port of exportation. This value, as defined, excludes the cost of loading merchandise aboard the exporting carrier and also excludes freight, insurance, and any other charges or transportation and other costs beyond the U.S. port of exportation. The country of destination is defined as the country of ultimate destination or country where the merchandise is to be consumed, further processed, or manufactured, as known to the shipper at the time of exportation. When ultimate destination is not known, the shipment is statistically credited to the last country to which the shipper knows the merchandise will be shipped in the same form as exported.

For certain low-valued shipments, the export statistics since July 1953 include estimates based upon selected samples of such shipments with lower and upper value limits of the sampled shipments varying (Canada excepted) from $100–$499 for July 1953–September 1969, $251–$499 for October 1969–February 1979, and $501–$999, for March 1979–June 1981. Effective July 1, 1981, the statistics for countries other than Canada reflect fully compiled data for shipments valued over $500. For Canada, upper-value limits were raised to $1,999 in January 1963, and lower-value to $251 and $501 in October 1969 and March 1979, respectively. Shipments valued below lower limits (under $100, under $251, and under $501) for the different periods are estimated to represent about one percent of the total value of exports, and the $501–$1,999 shipments to Canada about one percent and the $501–$999 shipments to other countries about two percent.

Beginning January 1978, the Export Classification Schedule was based upon Schedule E, Standard International Trade Classification, Revision 2. This revision affects the comparability of some export statistics.

Imports.—The Bureau of the Census compiles import data from various customs forms required to be filed with customs officials. From 1974–1981, data on import values were presented on three bases: The transaction values f.a.s. (free alongside ship) at the foreign port of export, the c.i.f. (cost, insurance, and freight), and the previously reported customs import value (as appraised by the U.S. Customs Service in accordance with legal requirements of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended). This latter valuation, primarily used for collection of import duties, frequently did not reflect the actual transaction value. Beginning 1982, import data are based on customs values, i.e., the price paid by the buyer to the seller in accordance with the 1979 Trade Agreement Act amendments to the 1930 Tariff Act. For the c.i.f. imports, the new customs value was substituted for the arms-length transaction value used for 1981 and earlier years. The f.a.s. transaction values were discontinued as of January 1982. Country of origin is defined as country where the merchandise was grown, mined, or manufactured. If country of origin is unknown, country of shipment is reported.

Imports are classified either as "General Imports" or "Imports for Consumption." General imports are a combination of entries for immediate consumption, entries into customs bonded warehouses, and entries into U.S. Foreign Trade Zones, thus generally reflecting total arrivals of merchandise. Imports for consumption are a combination of entries for immediate consumption, withdrawals from warehouses for consumption, and entries of merchandise into U.S. customs territory from U.S. Foreign Trade Zones, thus generally reflecting the total of the commodities entered into U.S. consumption channels.

Since July 1953, the import statistics include, estimates not classified by commodity, for certain low-valued shipments. For July 1953–July 1965, entries valued under $100, in general, were estimated, while entries valued under $251 have been estimated since July 1965. The estimated low-valued shipments generally amount to less than one percent of the import total.

Area coverage.—Except as noted, the geographic area covered by the export and import trade statistics is the United States Customs area (includes the 50 States, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico), the U.S. Virgin Islands (effective January 1981), and U.S. Foreign Trade Zones (effective July 1982). Data for selected tables and total values for 1980, have been revised to reflect the U.S. Virgin Islands' trade with foreign countries, where possible.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970. See Appendix I.

No. 1456. U.S. BUSINESSES ACQUIRED OR ESTABLISHED BY FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTORS, BY INDUSTRY OF U.S. BUSINESS ENTERPRISE: 1981 AND 1982

[Foreign direct investment is the ownership or control, directly or indirectly, by one foreign individual branch, partnership, association, trust, corporation, or government of 10 percent or more of the voting securities of a U.S. business enterprise or an equivalent interest in an unincorporated one. Data represent number and full cost of acquisitions of existing U.S. business enterprises, including business segments or operating units of existing U.S. business enterprises and establishments of new enterprises. Investments may be made by the foreign direct investor itself, or indirectly by an existing U.S. affiliate of the foreign direct investor. Covers investments in U.S. business enterprises with assets of over $1 million, or ownership of 200 acres of U.S. land. Excludes construction and services industries]

No. 1460. U.S. DIRECT INVESTMENT POSITION ABROAD AND INCOME, BY COUNTRY, 1970 TO 1982, AND BY SELECTED INDUSTRIES, 1982

a. Millions of dollars. Direct investments represent private enterprises in one country controlled by investors in another country or in the management of which foreign investors have an important role. Data for 1970 and 1975 are based on the 1986 benchmark survey; data for 1979 through 1982 are based on the 1977 benchmark survey. Because of differences in definition, data based on different benchmarks are not entirely comparable. Negative position occurs when U.S. parent company's liabilities to the foreign affiliate are greater than its investment in the foreign affiliate. See also Abstract Statistical Columns Times to 1970, series U 41-45.

- Represents zero. 2 Less than $500,000. <sup>1</sup> July 1, 1945, through Dec. 31, 1982. All lend-lease and conversions of dollar grants to credits are from V-J Day (Sept. 2, 1945). <sup>2</sup> For details, see table 1462. <sup>3</sup> Foreign Assistance Act of 1951 (P.L. 87-195), as amended. Also includes predecessor and related programs. <sup>4</sup> Includes military assistance under Dept. of Defense Appropriation Act, 1966 (P.L. 89-394) and later acts. <sup>5</sup> Includes funds made available under Public Law 93-109 and subsequent legislation to release Israel from its contractual liability to pay for defense articles and services purchased under other legislation. <sup>6</sup> Net new grants are not adjusted for settlements for postwar relief and other grants under agreements, and net new credits exclude prior grants converted into credits, which were as follows: July 1945-December 1955, $2 198 million; 1956-65, $491 million; 1972, $894 million. Repayments on these settlements are included in net new credits. <sup>7</sup> Developed countries include Austria, Canada, Japan, New Zealand, South Africa, all countries listed under "Western Europe" in table 1462 except Portugal, Spain (through 1981), Yugoslavia, and Malta, and all countries listed under "Eastern Europe" in table 1462. Developing countries include all other countries listed in table 1462 (including Spain through 1981). <sup>8</sup> Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act. <sup>9</sup> Outstanding credits on Dec. 31, 1982 totaled $81,877 million representing net credits extended since organization of Export-Import Bank, Feb. 12, 1984, less chargeoffs and net adjustments due to exchange rates ($1,845 million), and excluding World War I debts. The amount repayable in dollars at U.S. Government option was $59,807 million, the remainder was repayable in foreign currencies, commodities, or services, at the option of the borrowers. <sup>10</sup> Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act. <sup>11</sup> Equivalent value of currencies still available to be used, including some funds advanced from foreign governments and after loss by exchange rate fluctuations ($1,513 million), was $254 million on Dec. 31, 1982. <sup>12</sup> Includes foreign currencies acquired from triangular trade operations and principal and interest collections on credits, originally extended under P.L. 83-480, which—since enactment of P.L. 87-125—are available for the same purposes as P.L. 83-480 currencies.

No. 1463. U.S. FOREIGN ECONOMIC AND MILITARY AID PROGRAMS: 1946 TO 1982

(In millions of dollars. For years ending June 30 except, beginning 1977, ending Sept. 30. Economic aid shown here represents total U.S. economic aid—not just aid under Foreign Assistance Act. Major components in recent years include AID, Food for Peace, Peace Corps, and paid-in subscriptions to international financial institutions, such as IBRD, and IDB. Cumulative totals for 1946-1982 are true totals net of decubilation; annual figures however, are gross unadjusted program figures. Military aid includes Military Assistance Program (MAP) grants, foreign military credit sales, service-funded programs, and excess defense articles)

- Represents zero. Z Less than $500,000. <sup>1</sup> 1970-1975 and 1982 imports are customs value basis; 1970-1982 exports are f.a.s. value. <sup>2</sup> Includes revisions not carried to area values; therefore, area values will not add to total. <sup>3</sup> Developed countries include Canada, Western Europe, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa; developing countries include rest of the world excluding Communist areas in Europe and Asia. Assignment of countries generally follows that made by United Nations. (See table 1503.) <sup>4</sup> OECD—Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development. <sup>5</sup> As of 1973, United Kingdom, Denmark, and Ireland end, as of 1981, Greece, became members of EEC. For consistency, data for all years are shown on same basis. <sup>6</sup> Includes Special Category exports, if any. <sup>7</sup> Prior to 1975, security regulations required that information on exports of Special Category commodities be excluded from the totals for certain countries.

NO. 1475. DOMESTIC EXPORTS, BY SELECTED COMMODITY GROUPS: 1965 TO 1982

(In millions of dollars. Totals and subtotals include data for commodities not shown separately. Beginning 1975, exports include nonmonetary gold. Commodity data beginning 1976 are not strictly comparable with previous years due to changes in export classifications; see source for changes. For 1977, adjustments have been made to the subtotals and to certain commodities to provide greater comparability with later years; and beginning 1980, includes trade of Virgin Islands with foreign countries (see footnote 1 for exception). "N.E.C." means not elsewhere classified. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series U 274-294.)

Outlying Areas Under Jurisdiction of the United States

This section presents summary economic and social statistics for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the principal territories of the United States (Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa) and, wherever possible, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands and the Northern Mariana Islands.

Primary sources are the decennial censuses of population and housing, and the censuses of agriculture, business, manufactures, and construction (taken every five years) conducted by the Bureau of the Census; the annual Vital Statistics of the United States, issued by the National Center for Health Statistics; and the annual Income and Product of the Puerto Rico Planning Board, San Juan.

Jurisdiction.—The United States gained jurisdiction over these areas as follows:

The islands of Puerto Rico and Guam, surrendered by Spain to the United States in October 1898, were ceded to the United States by the Treaty of Paris, ratified in 1899. Puerto Rico became a commonwealth on July 25, 1952, thereby achieving a high degree of local autonomy under its own constitution. The Virgin Islands, comprising 50 islands and cays, were purchased by the United States from Denmark in 1917. American Samoa, a group of 7 islands, was acquired by the United States in accordance with a convention among the United States, Great Britain, and Germany, ratified in February 1900.

The Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands comprises 2,141 atolls and islands, about 96 of which are inhabited. By an agreement approved by the Security Council and the United States in 1947, this territory, formerly under Japanese mandate, has been administered by the United States since July 1947 under the United Nations trusteeship system. The Northern Mariana Islands are in the process of becoming a Commonwealth. Some data, formerly included in the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, are now shown separately. The other districts of the Trust Territory are negotiating relationships of free association with the United States. Where negotiations are completed, subject to the approval of the U.S. Congress and the United Nations, the trusteeship will be dissolved.

For a brief summary of U.S. territorial development, see tables 5 and 339.

Censuses.—Because characteristics of the outlying areas differ, the presentation of census data for them is not uniform. The 1960 Census of Population covered all of the places listed above except the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (the census of which was conducted in April 1958 by the Office of the High Commissioner), whereas the 1960 Census of Housing also excluded American Samoa. The 1970 and 1960 Censuses of Population and Housing covered all five areas. The 1959 and 1969 Censuses of Agriculture covered Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, and the Virgin Islands; the 1964 and 1974 censuses covered the same areas except American Samoa; and the 1978 census covered the same areas including American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands. Beginning in 1967, Congress authorized the economic censuses, to be taken at 5-year intervals, for years ending in 2 and 7. Prior economic censuses were conducted in Puerto Rico for 1954, 1958, and 1963, and in Guam and the Virgin Islands for 1958 and 1963. In 1972, the census of construction industries was added for the first time for these three areas.

Information in other sections.—In addition to the statistics presented in this section, other data are included as integral parts of many tables showing distribution by States in various sections of the Abstract. See "Outlying areas of the United States" in the index. For definition and explanation of terms used, see section 1, Population; section 5, Education; section 24, Agriculture; section 28, Construction and Housing; section 29, Manufactures; and section 30, Domestic Trade and Services.

Comparative International Statistics

This section presents statistics for the world as a whole and for many countries on a comparative basis with the United States. Selected data are shown for area and population, births and deaths, social and industrial indicators, finances, agriculture, transportation and communication, and military affairs.

The principal sources for these data are the United Nations Statistical Yearbook and the U.S. Bureau of the Census biennial publication World Population Statistics. Statistics of the individual nations may be found primarily in official national publications, generally in the form of yearbooks, issued by most of the nations at various intervals in their own national languages, expressed in their own or customary units of measure. For handler reference, especially for international comparisons, the Statistical Office of the United Nations compiles data as submitted by member countries and issues a number of international summary publications, generally in English and French. Among these are the Statistical Yearbook; the Demographic Yearbook; the Yearbook of International Trade Statistics; the Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics: Vol. II, International Tables; Population and Vital Statistics Reports (quarterly); the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics; and Yearbook of World Energy Statistics. Specialized agencies of the United Nations also issue international summary publications on agricultural, labor, and education statistics. Among these are the Production Yearbook and Trade Yearbook issued by the Food and Agriculture Organization, the Yearbook of Labour Statistics issued by the International Labour Office, and the Statistical Yearbook issued by the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization.

The Bureau of the Census, in Country Demographic Profiles, series ISP-30, presents data on individual countries for both a recent census year and the current period; and in the biennial World Population series, estimates of basic demographic measures for countries and regions of the world. The International Population Statistics Reports, series P-80 and P-81, issued by the Bureau of the Census, also present population figures for many foreign countries.

The U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) also compile data on international statistics. In its World Military Expenditures and Arms Transfers, published annually, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency presents data on various economic indicators, as well as basic military data. Among the topics presented have been military expenditures, gross national product, imports and exports, and armed forces, by region and/or country. The IMF publishes a series of reports relating to financial data. These include International Financial Statistics, Direction of Trade, and Balance of Payments Yearbook, published in English, French, and Spanish.

Statistical coverage, country names, and classifications.—Problems of space and availability of data limit the number of countries and the extent of statistical coverage shown. The list of countries included is based almost entirely on a U.S. Department of State list of sovereign nations, dependencies, and areas of special sovereignty published by the U.S. Department of State in Status of the World's Nations. Country names are shown here as specified in that publication. In the few cases where a lack of comparability exists between State Department and United Nations' terminology, the State Department's preferences are used.

The countries and regions in tables 1500, 1503, and 1504 are classified as either "more developed" or "less developed," according to a regional classification system used by the Census Bureau in its World Population, 1983. The system is based on the assumption that, within regions, levels of such factors as industrial development, literacy rate, gross reproduction rate, per capita income, etc., are somewhat constant. "More developed" countries comprise Japan, Australia, New Zealand, the Soviet Union, and those countries in Northern America and Europe. All others are "less developed".

Economic associations.—The Organization for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC), a regional grouping of Western European countries established in 1948 for the purpose of harmonizing national economic policies and conditions, was succeeded on September 30, 1961, by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). The member nations of the OECD are Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Federal Republic of Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States, plus Yugoslavia in special status category.

Quality and comparability of the data.—The quality and comparability of the data presented here are affected by a number of factors:

(1) The year for which data are presented may not be the same for all subjects for a particular country, or for a given subject for different countries, though the data shown are the most recent available. All such variations have been noted. The data shown are for calendar years except as otherwise specified.

(2) The bases, methods of estimating, methods of data collection, extent of coverage, precision of definition, scope of territory, and margins of error may vary for different items within a particular country, and for like items for different countries. Footnotes and headnotes to the tables give a few of the major time-period and coverage qualifications attached to the figures; considerably more detail is presented in the source publications. Many of the measures shown are, at best, merely rough indicators of magnitude.

(3) Figures shown in this section for the United States may not always agree with figures shown in the preceding sections. Disagreements may be attributable to the use of differing original sources, a difference in the definition of geographic limits (the 50 States, conterminous United States only, or the United States including certain outlying areas and possessions), or to possible adjustments made in the United States figures by the United Nations or other sources in order to make them more comparable with figures from other countries.

International comparisons of national accounts data.—In order to compare national accounts data for different countries, it is necessary to convert each country's data into a common unit of currency, usually the U.S. dollar. The market exchange rates which are often used in converting national currencies do not necessarily reflect the relative purchasing power in the various countries. For example, using table 1511 it should not be concluded that Switzerland's individual standard of living in 1982 was 19 percent higher than that of the U.S., or that the United Kingdom's was 36 percent lower, as the statistics may imply. It is obviously necessary that the goods and services produced in different countries should be valued consistently if the differences observed are meant to reflect real differences in the volumes of goods and services produced. The use of purchasing power parities (see table 1512) instead of exchange rates is intended to achieve this objective.

The method used to present the data shown in table 1512 is to construct volume measures directly by revaluing the goods and services sold in different countries at a common set of international prices. By dividing the ratio of the gross domestic products of two countries expressed in their own national currencies by the corresponding ratio calculated at constant international prices, it is possible to derive the implied purchasing power parity (PPP) between the two currencies concerned. PPP's show how many units of currency are needed in one country to buy the same amount of goods and services which one unit of currency will buy in the other country. For further information, see National Accounts, Main Aggregates, volume I, issued annually by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, Paris, France.

Conversion factors.—To facilitate comparison in terms of familiar units, some items shown in metric units in the source have been converted to U.S. equivalents by means of the abbreviated conversion factors shown below. Additional conversion factors appear on p. xiv.

No. 1503. POPULATION AND AREA, BY REGION AND COUNTRY

(Population data generally are de facto figures for the present territory. Population estimates were derived from information available as of mid-1983. See table 1504 for country components of regions. See text, p. 854, for general comments concerning the data. For details of methodology, coverage, and reliability, see sources. Minus sign (-) indicates decrease.)

No. 1805. URBAN POPULATION, GROWTH, BIRTH, AND DEATH RATES AND LIFE EXPECTANCY— SELECTED COUNTRIES

(Covers countries with 10 million or more population in 1983. Growth rate: Annual increase (or decrease) to the population resulting from a surplus or deficit of births over deaths and a surplus or deficit of migrants into or out of the country, expressed as a percentage of the base population. Crude birth rate: Number of births during 1 year per 1,000 persons (based on midyear population). Crude death rate: Number of deaths during 1 year per 1,000 persons (based on midyear population). Minus sign (-) indicates decrease.)

No. 1006. INFANT MORTALITY, HOSPITALS, AND HEALTH PERSONNEL, BY COUNTRY

Infant mortality rate: Number of deaths of children under 1 year of age per 1,000 live births in a calendar year. Hospitals: Data refer to hospitals and other medical establishments with beds but exclude old people's homes and establishments for custodial or preventive care only. Health personnel: Data refer to persons fully qualified from medical or dental schools and working within the country. See text, p. 654, for general comments concerning the data. For additional qualifications of data for individual countries, see source.

NO. 1510. GROSS DOMESTIC PRODUCT—PERCENT DISTRIBUTION BY TYPE OF EXPENDITURE AND KIND OF ECONOMIC ACTIVITY

[In percent. In general, "Agriculture" includes forestry, hunting, and fishing; "Industrial activity" covers mining, manufacturing, electricity, gas and water; and "Other" comprises financing, insurance, real estate, and business services; community, social, and personal services; producers of government services; and other producers. Data by kind of economic activity do not add to 100 percent for some countries because import duties are excluded in the reported industrial groups; data for Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, German Democratic Republic, Hungary, Poland, Soviet Union, and Yugoslavia are based on the material production system of accounts which include the sum of goods and material services but exclude nonmaterial services such as finances and education. Minus sign (—) indicates decrease]

No. 1532. MILITARY EXPENDITURES IN CURRENT AND CONSTANT (1979) DOLLARS: 1971 TO 1980

(In millions of dollars, except as indicated. See also table 563. Data for expenditures and for GNP were based on local currencies which were deflated to constant 1979 local currency values before conversion to U.S. dollar equivalents. In general, the rates used for conversion are the 1979 average per/market exchange rates as supplied by IBRD (International Bank for Reconstruction and Development). See also headnote, table 1533.)

NO. 1540. TOTAL EXTERNAL PUBLIC DEBT, 1973 TO 1981, AND BY TYPE OF CREDITOR, 1981, AND DEBT SERVICE PAYMENTS AND RATIO, 1975 TO 1981

[External public debt is defined as debt repayable to external creditors in foreign currency goods, or services, with an original or extended maturity of more than one year, which is a direct obligation of, or has repayment guaranteed by, a public body in the borrowing country. Excludes undischarged debt (amounts not yet drawn by recipient) and unguaranteed private debt, which for some countries is substantial. Debt contracted for the purchase of military equipment is not usually reported. Debt service payments represent the sum of interest payments and repayments of principal on external public debt.]

NO. 1541. NET FLOW OF FINANCIAL RESOURCES TO DEVELOPING COUNTRIES, BY ORIGIN AND TYPE OF RESOURCE: 1970 TO 1982

(In billions of U.S. dollars. Net flow covers loans, grants, and grant-like flows minus amortization on loans. Military flows are excluded. Developing countries cover countries designated by Development Assistance Committees as developing. The DAC list differs from the UN list (see table 1503) by the inclusion of Greece, Malta, Portugal, Spain (through 1981), and Yugoslavia and the exclusion of South Africa. Official development assistance covers all flows to developing countries and multilateral institutions provided by official agencies, including State and local governments, or by their executive agencies, which are administered with the promotion of economic development and welfare of developing countries as their main objective and whose financial terms are intended to be concessional in character with grant element of at least 25 percent. Other official flows cover export credits and portfolio investment from the official sector.)

Historical Series—Index to Tables in Which Historical Statistics Series Appear

[The most recent historical supplement to the Statistical Abstract is the bicentennial edition, Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970 (see inside back cover). Listed below are statistical time series (identified by number) appearing in this edition, for which tables in the Statistical Abstract present comparable figures. Historical series are listed only where related or comparable data are available for one or more years later than 1970. In a few instances, it may be necessary to combine figures shown in the Abstract to obtain totals comparable to the series shown in Historical Statistics.]

Metropolitan Area Concepts and Components

Statistics for metropolitan areas shown in the Statistical Abstract represent areas designated by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's) or metropolitan statistical areas (MSA's). Effective June 30, 1983, OMB changed the basic term from SMSA to MSA and revised the geographic definitions of many individual metropolitan areas; some new areas were defined, and some areas were redesignated as PMSA's or CMSA's (see further explanation below). The revised definitions appear in OMB press release 83-20 of June 27, 1983. The official standards for defining MSA's appeared in the Federal Register, January 3, 1980 (part 6).

The list of areas which follows (see p. 898) specifies components and population totals and refers to the definitions in effect on June 30, 1983. On that date, there were 257 MSA's, as well as 23 CMSA's comprising 78 PMSA's (including 4 MSA's, 1 CMSA, and 2 PMSA's in Puerto Rico). The figures in tables A, B, and C below (see pp. 896 and 897), exclude the areas in Puerto Rico.

The general concept of a metropolitan area is one of a large population nucleus, together with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus. Standard definitions of metropolitan statistical areas were first issued in 1949 by the then Bureau of the Budget (predecessor of OMB), under the designation "Standard Metropolitan Areas"; the term was changed to SMSA in 1959. From 1977 to 1981, the SMSA's were the responsibility of the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, Department of Commerce.

The criteria for the establishment and definition of SMSA's were modified in 1958, 1971, and 1975. The current standards were adopted in January 1980; they provide that each MSA must include at least:

- (a) One city with 50,000 or more inhabitants, or
- (b) A Census Bureau-defined urbanized area of at least 50,000 inhabitants and a total MSA population of at least 100,000 (75,000 in New England).

The standards provide that the MSA include as "central county(ies)" the county in which the central city is located, and adjacent counties, if any, with at least 50 percent of their population in the urbanized area. Additional "outlying counties" are included if they meet specified requirements of commuting to the central counties and of metropolitan character (such as population density and percent urban). In New England the MSA's are defined in terms of cities and towns rather than counties.

The 1980 standards provide that within metropolitan complexes of 1 million or more population, separate component areas are defined if specified criteria are met. Such areas are designated primary metropolitan statistical areas (PMSA's); and any area containing PMSA's is designated a consolidated metropolitan statistical area (CMSA). Besides the 23 CMSA's, there are 12 MSA's of 1 million or more, within which no component met the requirements for recognition as a PMSA. Of the 78 PMSA's most were formerly SMSA's, but 18 were newly established in 1983.

Of the 23 CMSA's most were previously recognized as standard consolidated statistical areas (SCSA's), but 7 were formerly SMSA's within which PMSA's were newly qualified in 1983.

The standards adopted in 1980 were implemented in two stages. First, they were used to define a group of 36 new areas in June 1981. The 323 SMSA's as of June 30, 1981 were reported in the 1980 census tabulations and publications. Next, the boundaries of all SMSA's were reviewed in 1982-83 under the new standards after 1980 commuting data became available.

Revised 1980 standards for determining central cities and titles were implemented as part of the 1982-83 review. The largest city in each MSA is designated a "central city"; in addition there may be additional central cities if specified requirements are met. The title of each MSA consists of the name(s) of up to three of its central cities and the name of each State into which the MSA extends. However, a central city is generally not included in an MSA title unless it has at least one-third the population of the area's largest city. Prior to 1983, virtually all central cities appeared in area titles. An MSA may include other cities of 50,000 or more besides its central or title cities.

In 1982, the second edition of the State and Metropolitan Area Data Book was released. This publication presents a variety of statistical information for SMSA's and their component counties, reflecting the 1981 definitions of SMSA's.

New England MSA's and NECMA's.—Because MSA's in New England are defined in terms of cities and towns rather than counties, some statistical data that are available only for counties cannot be compiled for individual New England MSA's. Therefore, for New England areas, data are shown for both New England County Metropolitan Areas (NECMA's) and MSA's wherever possible. The NECMA's provide a county version of the New England areas, but do not replace New England MSA's as the standard areas. NECMA's are defined corresponding to the 3 CMSA's in New England and for the portion of the New York–Northern New Jersey–Long Island CMSA in Connecticut. There are no NECMA definitions corresponding to New England PMSA's.

Effect of changes in MSA definition.—Changes in the definitions of MSA's since 1949 have consisted chiefly of (1) the recognition of new areas as, for example, cities reached 50,000 population; and (2) the addition of counties (or towns in New England) to existing MSA's as new census data showed them to qualify. Also, several formerly separate MSA's have been merged, and occasionally territory has been transferred from one MSA to another or from an MSA to nonmetropolitan territory. Comparisons of MSA figures over time may be affected in cases where the MSA definitions were changed. To maintain comparability, data for an earlier period have been revised in this volume where possible, to reflect the MSA boundaries of the more recent period. However, this could not always be done; for data based on a sample survey, in particular, it is usually not possible to revise the data to reflect changes in MSA definitions that occurred after the survey was made.

In the three tables that follow, data are given for MSA's as defined for specified dates, thereby indicating the extent of change in population and land area resulting from revisions in definitions.

TABLE A. NUMBER, POPULATION, AND LAND AREA OF MSA'S AS DEFINED AT SPECIFIED DATES:

[The differences in population shown here for each year in the successive columns of the table result entirely from net expansion of metropolitan territory through changes in the MSA definitions. The differences in population shown for each MSA definition (on the successive lines of the table) result entirely from population changes within that territory, unaffected by changes in MSA definitions. The changes in 1970 land area result entirely from net expansion of MSA territory. All data include Alaska and Hawaii and exclude Puerto Rico. Subtraction of any line of the table from the line below will show the net effect of change in population and land area undergone by the MSA's as the result of changes in definitions between the specified dates. Such changes typically occurred throughout the period, not on any single date, and may have included subtractions from, as well as additions to, MSA territory. Census population data for 1970 include corrections made since publication. The area data for the 1950 and 1960 census definitions of MSA's differ from the data published in those censuses because they are based on a remeasurement of land areas made during the 1960's, and also reflect changes in inland water area occurring up to 1970]

APPENDIX III

Statistical Methodology and Reliability

Introduction.—The data presented in this Statistical Abstract came from many sources. The sources include not only Federal statistical bureaus and other organizations that collect and issue statistics as their principal activity, but also governmental administrative and regulatory agencies, private research bodies, trade associations, insurance companies, health associations, and private organizations such as the American Red Cross and philanthropic foundations. Consequently, the data vary considerably as to reference periods, definitions of terms and, for ongoing series, the number and frequency of time periods for which data are available.

The statistics presented were obtained and tabulated by various means. Some statistics are based on complete enumerations or censuses while others are based on samples. Some information is extracted from records kept for administrative or regulatory purposes (school enrollment, hospital records, securities registration, financial accounts, social security records, income tax returns, etc.), while other information is obtained explicitly for statistical purposes through interviews or by mail. The estimation procedures used vary from highly sophisticated scientific techniques, to crude “informed guesses”.

Each set of data relates to a group of individuals or units of interest referred to as the target universe or target population, or simply as the universe or population. Prior to data collection the target universe should be clearly defined. For example, if data are to be collected for the universe of households in the United States, it is necessary to define a “household”. The target universe may not be completely tractable. Cost and other considerations may restrict data collection to a survey universe of households on some available list, such list being inaccurate, out of date, defining “household” slightly differently, etc. This list is called a survey frame or sampling frame.

The data in many tables are based on data obtained for all population units, a census, or on data obtained for only a portion, or sample, of the population units. When the data presented are based on a sample, the sample is usually a scientifically selected probability sample. This is a sample selected from a list or sampling frame in such a way that every possible sample has a known chance of selection, and usually each unit selected can be assigned a number, between zero and one, representing its likelihood or probability of selection.

For large-scale sample surveys, the probability sample of units is often selected as a multistage sample. The first stage of a multistage sample is the selection of a probability sample of large groups of population members, referred to as primary sampling units (PSU's). For example, in a national multistage household sample, PSU's are often counties or groups of counties. The second stage of a multistage sample is the selection, within each PSU selected at the first stage, of smaller groups of population units, referred to as secondary sampling units. In subsequent stages of selection, smaller and smaller nested groups are chosen until the ultimate sample of population units is obtained. To qualify a multistage sample as a probability sample, all stages of sampling must be carried out using probability sampling methods.

Prior to selection at each stage of a multistage (or a single-stage) sample, a list of the sampling units or sampling frame for that stage must be obtained. For example, for the first stage of selection of a national household sample, a list of the counties and county groups that form the PSU's must be obtained. For the final stage of selection, lists of households, and sometimes persons within the households, have to be compiled in the field. If a single-stage sample of the Nation's hospitals is to be selected, a list of hospitals must be obtained to use as the sampling frame. Unfortunately, it is virtually impossible to obtain a complete, up-to-date frame for a hospital survey. This is a problem incurred for most surveys of institutions and for many other types of surveys as well.

Wherever the quantities in a table refer to an entire universe, but are constructed from data collected in a sample survey, the table quantities are referred to as sample estimates. In constructing a sample estimate, an attempt is made to come as close as is feasible to the corresponding universe quantity that would be obtained from a complete census of the universe. Estimates based on a sample will, however, generally differ from the hypothetical census figures. Two classifications of errors are associated with estimates based on sample surveys: (1) sampling error—the error arising from the use of a sample, rather than a census, to estimate population quantities and (2) nonsampling error—those errors arising from nonsampling sources. As discussed below, the magnitude of the sampling error for an estimate can usually be estimated from the sample data. However, the magnitude of the nonsampling error for an estimate can rarely be estimated. Consequently, actual error in an estimate exceeds the estimated error in the estimate.

The particular sample used in a survey is only one of a large number of possible samples of the same size which could have been selected using the same sampling procedure. Estimates derived from the different samples would, in general, differ from each other. The standard error (SE) is a measure of the variation among the estimates derived from all possible samples. The standard error is the most commonly used measure of the sampling error of an estimate. Valid estimates of the standard errors of survey estimates can usually be calculated from the data collected in a probability sample. For convenience, the standard error is sometimes expressed as a percent of the estimate and is called the relative standard error or coefficient of variation (CV). For example, an estimate of 200 units with an estimated standard error of 10 units has an estimated CV of 5 percent.

A sample estimate and an estimate of its standard error or CV can be used to construct interval estimates that have a prescribed confidence that the interval includes the average of the estimates derived from all possible samples with a known probability. To illustrate, if all possible samples were selected under essentially the same general conditions, and using the same sample design, and if an estimate and its estimated standard error were calculated from each sample, then:

1. Approximately 68 percent of the intervals from one standard error below the estimate to one standard error above the estimate would include the average estimate derived from all possible samples.
2. Approximately 90 percent of the intervals from 1.6 standard errors below the estimates to 1.6 standard errors above the estimate would include the average estimate derived from all possible samples.
3. Approximately 95 percent of the intervals from two standard errors below the estimate to two standard errors above the estimate would include the average estimate derived from all possible samples.

Thus, for a particular sample, one can say with the appropriate level of confidence (e.g., 90% or 95%) that the average of all possible samples is included in the constructed interval. Example of a confidence interval: An estimate is 200 units with a standard error of 10 units. An approximately 90 percent confidence interval (plus or minus 1.6 standard errors) is from 184 to 216.

All surveys and censuses are subject to nonsampling errors. Nonsampling errors are two kinds—random and nonrandom. Random nonsampling errors arise because of the varying interpretation of questions (by respondents or interviewers) and varying actions of coders, keyers, and other processors. Some randomness is also introduced when respondents must estimate values. These same errors usually have a nonrandom component. Nonrandom nonsampling errors result from total nonresponse (no usable data obtained for a sampled unit), partial or item nonresponse (only a portion of a response may be usable), in ability or unwillingness on the part of respondents to provide correct information, difficulty interpreting questions, mistakes in recording or keying data, errors of collection or processing, and coverage problems (overcoverage and undercoverage of the target universe). Random nonresponse errors usually, but not always, result in an understatement of sampling errors and thus an overstatement of the precision of survey estimates. Estimating the magnitude of nonsampling errors would require special experiments or access to independent data and, consequently, the magnitudes are seldom available.

Nearly all types of nonsampling errors that affect surveys also incur in complete censuses. Since surveys can be conducted on a smaller scale than censuses, nonsampling errors can presumably be controlled more tightly. Relatively more funds and effort can perhaps be expended toward eliciting responses, detecting and correcting response error, and reducing processing errors. As a result, survey results can sometimes be more accurate than census results.

To compensate for suspected nonrandom errors, adjustments of the sample estimates are often made. For example, adjustments are frequently made for nonresponse, both total and partial. Adjustments made for either type of nonresponse are often referred to as imputations. Imputation for total nonresponse is usually made by substituting for the questionnaire responses of the nonrespondents the "average" questionnaire responses of the respondents. These imputations are usually made separately within various groups of sample members, formed by attempting to place respondents and nonrespondents together that have "similar" survey characteristics. Imputation for item nonresponse is usually made by substituting for a missing item the response to that item of a respondent having characteristics that are "similar" to those of the nonrespondent.

For an estimate calculated from a sample survey, the total error in the estimate is composed of the sampling error, which can usually be estimated from the sample, and the nonsampling error, which usually cannot be estimated from the sample. The total error present in a population quantity obtained from a complete census is composed of only nonsampling errors. Ideally, estimates of the total error associated with data given in the Statistical Abstract tables should be given. However, due to the unavailability of estimates of nonsampling errors, only estimates of the levels of sampling errors, in terms of estimated standard errors or coefficients of variation, are available. To obtain estimates of the estimated standard errors from the sample of interest, obtain a copy of the referenced report which appears at the end of each table.

Principal data bases.—Beginning on page 908 are brief descriptions of 43 of the sample surveys and censuses that provide a substantial portion of the data contained in this Abstract.

See above.	Estimated CV's for 1979 (1980 not available): For number of returns in subgroups, ranged from 1.5% with assets under $100,000 to 0% with assets over $25 mil.; for amount of net income and amount of income tax, .1%.	See above.	U.S. Internal Revenue Service, Statistics of Income, Corporation Income Tax Returns , annual.
Records used consist of actions pursuant to applications for benefits, updated by subsequent post-entitlement actions.	Not applicable.	Processing errors, which are believed to be small.	U.S. Social Security Administration, Annual Statistical Supplement to the Social Security Bulletin .
Data adjusted to reflect returned checks and overpayment refunds. For federally administered, actual adjusted amounts used; for State administered, payments deflated for average rate across all States.	Not applicable.	See above.	See above.
Cooperating State agencies mail questionnaires to sample establishments to develop State and local estimates; information forwarded to BLS where national estimates are prepared.	Estimated CV's in 1982 for average weekly hours paid, .1%; for average hourly earnings, .2%.	Incorrect responses believed to be somewhat offsetting. Estimates of employment adjusted annually to reflect complete universe. Average adjustment of .2%.	U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Employment and Earnings, Explanatory Data , tables I-O and BLS Handbook of Methods , Bulletin 2134-1 (Dec. 1982).
Prices of 400 items obtained from about 2,300 food outlets, 18,000 rental units, 18,000 housing units (for property taxes), and 22,300 other reporters in 85 areas. Prices of most goods and services obtained monthly in the 5 largest areas and every 3 months in others.	Estimates of standard errors are not available at present.	Errors result from inaccurate reporting, difficulties in defining concepts and their operational implementation, lack of systematic method for incorporating new outlets in the sample, and introduction of product quality changes and new products.	U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, The Consumer Price Index: Concepts and Content Over the Years . Report 517. See also text, pp. 451 and 452.
Data collected by mail. If transaction prices not supplied, list prices used. Some prices obtained from trade publications, organized exchanges, and government agencies. To calculate index, price changes multiplied by their relative weights based on total net selling value of all commodities in 1972.	Not applicable.	Transaction prices at time of shipment not always available, so list and order prices sometimes used. Only about half of the total value of the mining and manufacturing sectors covered by current program. Double counting bias present because gross shipment values are used as weights. Statistical copies of import entry documents, received on a daily basis from Customs ports of entry throughout the country, are subjected to a monthly processing cycle. They are fully processed to the extent they reflect items valued at $251 and over.	Estimated CV for world area and country totals less than .1% for totals over $20 million; less than .5% for totals between $1 million and $20 million; and less than possible errors due to rounding for values less than $1 million.	Verification of statistical data reporting by Customs officials prior to transmittal and a subsequent program of clerical and computer checks hold nonsampling errors arising from reporting and/or processing errors to a minimum. Mail questionnaire to stratified sample (approx. 26%) of farms; shorter questionnaire to others on mail list. Nonrespondent followup by letters and phone calls. Published county data adjusted for mail list nonresponse. Supplemental direct enumeration sample provides estimates for farms not on mail list at State and U.S. level. Data collection by personal enumeration. Imputation based on enumerator observation or data reported by respondents having similar agricultural characteristics having similar characteristics. Mail or personal interviews used for initial data collection. Mail nonrespondent followup by phone and personal interviews. Imputation based on average of respondents. Enumerators count and measure plant characteristics in sample fields. Production measured from plots at harvest. Harvest loss measured from post harvest gleanings.	Standard errors by county and State for farm acreage, value of land and buildings, various crop and livestock values given in Appendix A tables of each 1978 State volume. The estimated CV for U.S. number of farms is .22% and land in farms is .04%. Estimated CV's range from 1-2% for regional estimates to 3-6% for State estimates of livestock inventories. Estimated CV for number of hired farm workers is about 3%. See above for CV's of other national and State estimates. CV's for national estimates of production are about 2% to 3%.	Estimates of undercoverage of farms (chiefly small farms) was 3.4% nationally. Adjustment for farm nonresponse as a percent of the U.S. total represented 8.5% for number of farms, 4.6% for land in farms, and 3.9% for value of products sold. Minimized through rigid quality controls on the collection process and careful review of all reported data. In addition to above, replicated sampling procedures used to monitor effects of changes in survey procedures. See above.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Census of Agriculture, 1978, vol. 1, State and county reports and vol. 5, part 4, Procedural History. U.S. Department of Agriculture, SRS, Scope and Methods of the Statistical Reporting Service, Miscellaneous Publication No. 1308, July 1975. See above. See above.
Survey data for employers collected by questionnaire. IRS business tax forms used for establishments without paid employees. Followup on problems with questionnaire responses. Within industry, by State cross-classifications, missing data imputed based on relationships of known responses to administrative data.	Estimated CV of about 1% at national level for estimated totals of all construction and about .5% for construction subindustries.	Response rate 80% to 85% for most items. Computer scan used to identify incomplete questionnaires for review.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Census of Construction Industries, 1977 , vol. 1, Industry and Geographic Area Statistics.

SECTION 28. CONSTRUCTION AND HOUSING—Con.
U.S. Bureau of the Census—Con. Monthly Survey of New Construction See tables 1328–1330, 1332, 1333 and 1335.	Survey conducted monthly of newly constructed housing units (excluding mobile homes, and nonhousekeeping residential buildings such as motels, hotels, courts and cabins). Data collected on the start, completion, and sale of housing. (Annual figures are aggregates of monthly estimates.)	Probability sample of housing units obtained from building permits selected from 14,000 permit-issuing places through 1976 and, beginning in 1979, 16,000 places. For nonpermit places, multistage probability sample of new housing units selected in 137 PSU's. In those areas, "knowledgeable" persons provide list of housing starts verified by phone or visit; areas also canvassed.
Value of New Construction Put in Place See tables 1321–1323.	Survey conducted monthly on total value of all construction put in place in the current month, both public and private projects. Construction values include costs of materials and labor, contractors' profits, overhead costs, cost of architectural and engineering work, and miscellaneous project costs. (Annual figures are aggregates of monthly estimates.)	Varies by type of activity: Total cost of private one-family houses started each month is distributed into value in place using fixed patterns of monthly construction progress; using a multistage probability sample, data for private multifamily housing are obtained by mail from owners of multiunit projects. Data for residential additions and alterations are obtained in a quarterly survey measuring expenditures; monthly estimates are interpolated from quarterly data. Estimates of value of private nonhousekeeping, nonresidential buildings, and State and local government construction are obtained by mail from owners (or agents) for a probability sample of projects. Estimates of farm nonresidential construction expenditures are based on U.S. Department of Agriculture annual estimates of construction; public utility estimates are obtained from reports submitted to Federal regulatory agencies and from private utility companies; estimates for all other private construction (nonbuilding) are obtained by phasing F. W. Dodge contract award data; estimates of Federal construction are based on monthly data supplied by Federal agencies.
Census of Housing See tables 1339, 1341, 1345, 1347, 1348, and 1357.	Census of all occupied and vacant housing, excluding group quarters, conducted every 10 years as part of the decennial census (see section 1 above) to determine characteristics of U.S. housing.	For 1970 and 1980, a complete count of 12 housing items. In 1970, other items collected from 5% and 15% probability samples selected from two sets of detailed questions on housing (these two sets having some common items). In 1980, approximately 19% of the housing units were included in the sample.
Annual Housing Survey See tables citing Annual Housing Survey in source notes.	Conducted nationally in the fall of each year to obtain data on the approximately 92 million occupied or vacant housing units in the U.S. (group quarters are excluded). Data include characteristics of occupied housing units, housing inventory changes, vacant units, new housing and mobile home units, financial characteristics, recent mover households, housing and neighborhood quality indicators and energy characteristics.	The national sample is a multistage probability sample with about 56,000 units eligible for interview in 1981. Sample units, selected within 461 PSU's, are surveyed over a 3-month period.

*See section 1 above for information pertaining to the Census of Population and section 16 pertaining to table 1320.)

Data obtained by telephone inquiry and field visit.	Estimated CV of 3% to 4% for estimates of national totals; as high as 20% for estimated totals of more detailed characteristics, such as residential multiunit structures.	Response rate over 90% for most items. Non-sampling errors attributed to definitional problems, differences in interpretation of questions, incorrect reporting, inability to obtain information about all cases in the sample, and processing errors.	U.S. Bureau of Census, Construction Reports, series C20, Housing Starts; C22, Housing Completions; C25, New One-Family Houses Sold and For Sale; and C27, Price Index of New One-Family Houses Sold.
See "Type of Data Collection Operation." Imputation accounts for approximately 20% of estimated value of construction each month.	CV estimates for private non-residential building construction range from 3% for estimated value of industrial buildings to 10% for miscellaneous buildings. CV approximately 2% for total new private nonresidential buildings.	For directly measured data series based on samples, some nonsampling errors may arise from processing errors, imputations, and misunderstanding of questions. Indirect data series are dependent on the validity of the underlying assumptions and procedures.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Construction Reports, series C30, Value of New Construction Put in Place.
In 1970, a self-enumeration census using a mail-out/mail-back procedure used in most areas. In 1980, mail questionnaires were used in even more areas than in 1970, with personal interviews in the remainder. Followup for nonrespondents and identification of vacant units done by phone and personal visit.	Evaluation programs are currently being conducted to provide information on the magnitude of both sampling (for sample items) and nonsampling errors in the 1980 census, including undercount (undercount of housing units in 1970 was estimated to be 1.4 percent).		U.S. Bureau of the Census, U.S. Census of Population and Housing: Procedural History, 1980 and 1970; and 1980 Census of Housing, vol. 1, (HC80-1-A), Appendixes B, C, and D.
For 1981, about 90% of the survey was conducted by personal interviews with subsequent followup by telephone or personal visit. The remaining 10% of the sample was conducted by telephone interview.	For the national sample, illustrations of the S.E. of the estimates are provided in the appendix of each report. As an example, the estimated CV is about .4% for the estimate of the number of owner occupied housing units.	Response rate about 94%. Errors result from incorrect or incomplete responses, errors in coding and recording, and processing errors. For the 1981 national sample, about 555,006 units were not included in the sample coverage. ## APPENDIX IV

Guide to Sources of Statistics

Alphabetically arranged by subject, this guide contains references to the important primary sources of statistical information for the United States. Secondary sources have been included if the information contained in them is presented in a particularly convenient form or if primary sources are not readily available. Nonrecurrent publications presenting compilations or estimates for years later than 1973 or types of data not available in regular series are also included.

Much valuable information may also be found in State reports (see pp. 964-967) and in reports for particular commodities, industries, or similar segments of our economic and social structures, many of which are not included here.

Publications listed under each subject are divided into two main groups: "U.S. Government" and "Other." The location of the publisher of each report is given except for Federal agencies located in Washington, D.C. Most Federal publications may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, tel. (202) 783-3238, or from Government Printing Office bookstores in certain major cities. In some cases, Federal publications may be obtained from the issuing agency.

Major reports, such as the Census of Population, which consist of many volumes, are listed by their general, all-inclusive titles.

Bureau of the Census Publication

In most cases, separate reports of the most recent censuses are available for each State, subject, industry, etc. Complete information on publications of all the censuses and current surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census appears in the Bureau of the Census Catalog, published annually and available from the Superintendent of Documents.

Guide to State Statistical Abstracts

This bibliography includes the most recent statistical abstracts for States and Puerto Rico published since 1973 plus those that will be issued in late 1983 or early 1984. For some States, a near equivalent has been listed in substitution for, or in addition to, a statistical abstract. All sources contain statistical tables on a variety of subjects for the State as a whole, its component parts, or both. The page counts given for publications are approximate.

Index to State Statistics in the 1982 Edition of the State and Metropolitan Area Data Book

[The 1982 edition of the State and Metropolitan Area Data Book (see inside back cover) contains over 2,000 subject items of comparative data for States, regions, and divisions. Listed below are the Statistical Abstract tables in this edition and the item numbers from table C (the State table) in the State and Metropolitan Area Data Book for which similar, though not necessarily comparable, comparative State data are presented. Both national-level and State-level Abstract tables are linked to the items in table C in order to provide easy reference to more detailed statistics.]

X Not applicable. <sup>1</sup> Persons of Spanish origin may be of any race. <sup>2</sup> Persons 25 years old and over. <sup>3</sup> Persons whose income in 1979 was below poverty level. Percent based on number of persons for whom poverty status is determined. For explanation of poverty level, see text, p. 417. <sup>4</sup> As of April 1. <sup>5</sup> Persons 18 years old and over. <sup>6</sup> D=Democratic; R=Republican. Source: Elections Research Center, Washington, D.C., America Votes, biennial. (Copyright). <sup>7</sup> Race was won by Republican write-in candidate with 36.8 percent of the vote against the Republican and Democratic nominees. <sup>8</sup> District of Columbia is represented by a nonvoting delegate. <sup>9</sup> State law does not require tabulation of votes for unopposed candidates. <sup>10</sup> La. holds an open-primary election with candidates from all parties running on the same ballot. Since all candidates in the 1982 primary either were unopposed or received a majority in the primary, there were no candidates names on the general election ballot and no votes were canvassed.

To make the best use of 1980 Census data, get the Users' Guide, a multi-volume work, consisting of:

- Part A. Text—Covers census data subjects, geographic considerations, reports, tapes, maps, and other products; services available to users; and many other topics.
- Part B. Glossary—Provides detailed definitions of population, housing, geographic, and technical terms.
- Part C. Index to Summary Tape Files 1 to 4—Provides an index, subject-by-subject, to the hundreds of tables in the four major summary tape series. Tells which tables have the desired data and also provides complete descriptions for all tables in these STF's.
- Sources of Assistance—Furnishes addresses and phone numbers of public and private sector organizations offering a variety of products and services, such as tape processing, area profiles, training, and reference assistance.
- Updates—Provide "Part A. Text" revisions on new developments relating to the 1980 census.

Watch for future supplements to the 1980 Users' Guide, such as an index to selected 1980 census reports.
